Record Breakers! Aussie ParcelVision System Deployed in only three days

Delft, The Netherlands, August 14th, 2008

Australia, June 2008 - Latest ParcelVision system fully installed and commissioned in less than three days.

There are few places on this planet that are further away from Holland than Australia, yet we have proven once again the ease of installation and integration benefits of our standard parcel recognition platform, ParcelVision, even this far away from our corporate homeland.

Ease of Integration and Installation

For integrators and customers alike, the fact that ParcelVision is a stable software platform that has been deployed at more than thirty projects worldwide does ensure consistency and ease of deployment, even though customer's requirements, sorters and host systems vary widely.

In this case our Project Manager was Rob Pieterse. Rob adds, "I would also like to emphasize the role of our professional project management services that ensure a smooth installation and commissioning!" And who could argue with that?!

Coming Soon: New Zealand

This multi-centre project will see us deploying more ParcelVision systems in Australia and also our first installation in New Zealand.
